The authorities of Australia deserve a set of gold medals. Their promptness in ridding the world of Deeming has been heightened by their determination to spare the world columns of morbid "rot" by burning all the wretched papers.

The editor of the Covina Argos offers the editor of the Anus Pomotopic an opportunity to settle their newspaper dispute by arbitration, footrace or fight. There must be a good deal of caloric in the atmosphere at the upper end of the San Gabriel Valley nowadays.

The county of Orange has just enjoyed the distinction of paying handsomely for a glass of beer. A saloonkeeper named Bolt, of Anaheim Landing, was prosecuted for selling a glass of beer to a minor, and a pretty straight race was made out. But Bolt protested that he sold the beverage to somebody else, who gave it to the boy. His attorney set up the plea that, in any event, it could not be proven that this particular glass of beer was intoxicating. On the strength of this showing a jury of nine men rendered a verdict of not guilty. It is a question which was the weakest, the plea, the beer or the jury.

Is all speculation regarding the Republican nomination at Minneapolis, Mr. Blaine's name continues to occupy first place. Some indication of the feeling in New York may be gleaned from this statement of Hon. J. Sloat Fassett, in the Albany Evening Journal (Rep.):

Mr. Blaine is far and away the first choice of the Republican party. There is a growing feeling of rebellion against him, but it is not a rebellion. It is a feeling of dissatisfaction with his leadership. It is a feeling of dissatisfaction with his leadership. It is a feeling of dissatisfaction with his leadership.

General satisfaction is felt by people on the Pacific Coast at the return of Gen. John P. Finley, U.S.A., to resume charge of the Western Bureau, Division of the Pacific. Under his supervision the reports are carefully prepared, the observations are accurate and the predictions are fairly verified. Several new features have been added recently to the daily weather charts, whose miscellaneous data now give the reader all necessary information touching the thermometer, barometer, hygrometer and rain-gauge. The daily weather map, shows, to the most casual reader, the distribution of the rain area and the progress of storm-centers eastward. A circular has just been issued which puts into the hands of the public the general principles used by the Department in making forecasts. Lieut. Finley has made a fine reputation as a practical meteorologist, and his studies regarding the tornado have given him a national reputation.

Mrs. Victoria C. Woodhull, who is working her Presidential campaign mainly through a literary bureau established at Chicago, has the rare faculty of combining in her published utterances a good deal of Woodhull and a little politics, religion, woman suffrage, social ethics and the discussion of sexual relations and procreation with that abandon which is ordinarily to be found only in addresses "to men only" or "to women only." It is a very fetching programme, and calculated to run the whole gamut of human motives, passions and mistakes. She is somewhat tedious on the subjects of tariff, reciprocity, free coinage and domestic and foreign policy generally; but that is a needless criticism from the general trend of political discussion. If Vic did not feel impelled to go into the musty past as far back as 1871 and dig up all those old press notices about herself there would be more freshness in her campaign; but there are doubtless many people who think it is fresh enough as it stands. If Mr. John Bidduph Martin, the English gentleman who holds the job of being Vic's husband, could only be naturalized in time it is quite likely that she would have a sure thing in one vote.

Tas McKinley law and reciprocity are pretty nearly making the campaign for the Republican party. The said arguments which they present to the country are more convincing than any number of campaign speeches based on glittering generalities. For the past nine months there has been a falling off in imports to the extent of $8,000,000, but the falling off in tin-plate alone was $13,000,000, because of the tremendous importations a year ago in anticipation of the new duty. But it is the increase of exportations of domestic manufactures that the good effects of the law are most apparent. There has been an increase for the nine months of $120,000,000. For this credit must be given the reciprocity clause of the law, which has received such bitter condemnation from Democratic and other free trade sources. The long and short of it is that for the past nine months, under the operation of the McKinley tariff and reciprocity, the balance of trade in merchandise has been in favor of this country to the amount of $112,000,000. The country can stand this and a good deal more of it, and there will be a good deal more of it if the Republicans continue in control of the administration.

A Campaign of Minstrelsy.

The town of Needles, on the edge of the Colorado Desert, has a Democratic club which whistles away the red-hot time of suspense pending the assembling of the Chicago convention by giving minstrel and dramatic entertainments. This is one of the best ways that could be devised for settling the tariff and silver questions in the Democratic mind. It relieves that tense longing for reform and that eager desire for office which are so wearing on the system when long continued. In the jokes of the end men, the rattle of the tambourine and bones, and in the steady consumption of tarantula juice, the Needles Democrats find surcease of care, and forget for the nonce that the responsibility of saving the Nation is upon their shoulders.

If the Democratic House of Representatives has found it profitable to dodge main issues and fritter away its time with baseball and horse races until after the conventions are held, we see no reason why the Democratic clubs throughout the country may not adopt a similar course to that of the Needles Democrats.

We are aware that the general plan proposed is to "say nothing and saw wood." But the weather is getting warm, and there must necessarily be a limit to the wood pile. At Needles, for example, there are several reasons why the suggestion of "sawing wood" should not be at all acceptable. At Washington most of the Democratic leaders are able to hire somebody to saw their wood; sometimes they get their constituency at home to do it. But sawing wood is at best not a congenial Democratic pursuit.

On the other hand, if the injunction from headquarters could be modified so as to read "Say nothing and give minstrel shows," what a pleasant and profitable field it would open up for the talent of the party! The idea in itself is entertaining. Then the leaders in the House of Representatives could carry out their policy of saying nothing in the easiest way by publishing in the Congressional Record as their speeches (undelivered) the books of George and Bellamy, and the constituency throughout the country could find congenial and profitable occupation in burnt cork.

How much better and more convincing this would be than so much lying about the tin plate industry and the McKinley tariff and reciprocity, and so much humbugging about the silver cause, and so many sham protestations about reform and saving the country. All of these issues, in which the Democrats have made a regular mess of things the more they have attempted to discuss them, could be relegated to the limbo of innocuous desuetude, and for the revamped jokes and playful antics of the Democratic minstrel stage there would be no back-action. No lying, no pretense, no blundering, no crawling—nothing but innocent and side-splitting mirth between the end men and the interlocutor, interspersed with melody and dancing.

We have no hesitation, notwithstanding the fact that THE TIMES is a Republican paper, in commending this plan to the earnest consideration of the Democratic managers. It possesses so many points of merit that we believe a mere prejudice as to its origin ought not to have any weight.

With a campaign thus inaugurated and carried out it need not make much difference whether Cleveland or Hill or Carlisle is nominated. The campaign minstrel show would present any one of them in a pleasant light, and the country could laugh and grow fat on politics. Then there would be no three-cornered questions as to whether Cleveland suits the free-silver ideas of the South and West or the protective ideas of New England; whether Hill is a Tammany figure-head or Carlisle a free-trader.

Embarrassments would be avoided all along the line. Yes, the idea seems to grow better the longer we think about it. Give us the minstrel shows and the whole country will be happy for the first time in the history of politics.

What's in a Name?

Los Gatos (Cal.), May 30, 1892.—(To the Editor of THE TIMES.) Will you oblige by giving your opinion as to whether it is proper to say "The Los Gatos News"? The point under discussion is—Los meaning "the." Is it improper to use "the" before Los Gatos? Or, is the definition of Los Gatos (the cats) submerged and lost in the name of the place rendering the use of "the" inadmissible? G. A. DORR.

[In the eyes of a purist, the use of the word "the" before the Spanish article, el, la, los or las is incorrect. A repetition of the word "the," no matter what the language employed, must be tautology in a strict sense. But custom seems to sanction the use of the English article in connection with the Spanish form when the latter is crystallized and its primary meaning is lost sight of in a proper name. We employ this "poetic license" in the name of this paper, THE LOS ANGELES TIMES.]

AMUSEMENTS.

AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

GRAND OPERAHOUSE.—One of Charles Frohman's brilliant comedies, presented last night, a comedy-farce in three acts, by Harry Nichols and W. Lescot, for the first time in this city last night to a large and appreciative audience.

The performance commenced with a comedy in one act, entitled "Chorus," by Thomas Frost, one of the New York Herald prize plays, which was excellently interpreted by Paul Arthur, Herbert Porter and the Misses Katherine Grey and Lucile Le Baron.

It is unusually bright, treats of a number of complications, and is exceedingly well written, and the dialogue is clever, the combination as a whole is one of the best of its kind that has ever been seen here.

There is a cleverly constructed comedy-farce, savoring somewhat of the plot of "Lend Me Your Wife," which was produced here by Roland Reed some time ago, but though not quite so refined, it is much funnier.

The title role is sustained by Miss Johnnie Bennett, who has made an international reputation in the part, which is that of a smart housemaid who temporarily assumed the role of her master's wife in order to help him out of a financial scrape.

Mr. Charles Skelton, the master, is played by Paul Arthur, with a vim and spirit which is quite unusual in the "Pitts" of Miss Reynolds and Schmitt Edwards, and the "Claude" of Master Joseph Toten are each finished performances, while the "Mrs. Chadwick" of Miss E. E. Daly must be seen to be appreciated.

John will be repeated for the rest of the week.

It will be followed on Monday next by "Carroll Johnson," California's favorite minstrel, who has abandoned the dusty mask of a comedian for a more refined and a more serious comedy by E. E. Kidder, the author of "The Poor Relation."

LOS ANGELES THEATRE.—Dan McCarthy's picturesque five-act drama, "True Irish Hearts," which was produced here for the first time last night by its talented author and his excellent company, deserved the warmest of welcomes, and the attendance being decidedly discouraged from a financial point of view. The performance, which was a choice selection of Irish ballads and comic songs, jig and reel dancing, and a selection of librettos and songs on the bagpipes, is considerably enhanced by the beauty of the scenery, a large quantity of which is carried by the company. A special feature is the scene in the third act of "Millinery by moonlight."

The piece was well received, and tomorrow, with "The Crooked Lane" for the matinee, when what are known as popular prices will be charged.

POLITICAL POINTS.

South Dakota Democratic delegates go to Chicago unimpaired.

It is perhaps a barrowing thought that if Thomas Jefferson were now on earth he would be figuring the value of the New York Sun as the stuffed porcupine of Monticello.

The waters of Chicago threaten to deprive the National Democratic convention of a good deal of its interest, for the bath-tubs are quiet and disaster, therefore, is not to be feared.

The action instituted by Anna Dickinson against the Boston National Convention has been dismissed by the court on the ground that the contract made for her lectures in aid of Mr. Harrison's election was illegal.

The Order of the Iron Hall is to make a political issue in the coming campaign in New Hampshire, and fraternal organizations will be invited to join the effort to secure the election to the Legislature of Representatives who are friendly to endowment orders.

Two of the Irish delegates to Minneapolis are instructed for Blaine. This is what may be called coaching upon the President's preserves. By way of getting even Mr. Harrison ought to be told that the Irish faith in miracles may lead him to adopt that plan of reprisal.

Nearly six months have passed since the House assembled, and three tariff reform bills have been passed by that body, each dealing with a single commodity. Their passage by the House does not begin to tell the story, as it relates to the body to the country. The delay of the Ways and Means Committee is inexplicable and very disheartening to good Democrats everywhere. Indianapolis Sentinel (Dem.)

The latest story is to the effect that Hill will ask Cleveland to pull out of the race and allow New York to settle on a compromise basis. The shorter time in the race that nearly every State is instructing for or endorsing Cleveland the beautiful nerve of this proposition becomes apparent.

The story, as it relates to the "critter" is dead but he doesn't know it. "I am not," says Mr. Harrison, "to use a homely expression, a young robin with a widely open mouth, to catch everything that comes." That certainly is not the popular impression which prevails concerning the President. The public looks upon him rather as a well-matured fowl, firmly and unalterably imbued with the idea that the early bird catches the worm, and that a merely passive and receptive attitude is not feasible as a method of appealing for public honors under the prevailing political system in this country.—[Kansas City Star.]

How to Digest El Conejo.

LOS ANGELES, June 2.—(To the Editor of THE TIMES.) The inquiry of your correspondent "R. T." gives me an opportunity to ventiliate what I know about farming. But first let me state that I am not a farmer, but a man who has been in the rabbit business for a number of years.

I have never known a failure with trees treated.

BOYCOTT ON FRUIT.

Eastern Nurserymen Make War on California.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 2.—(By the Associated Press.) The National Association of Nurserymen in session here today passed resolutions virtually instituting a boycott against California fruits.

The resolutions recite the California quarantine in Eastern nurserymen's stock, and stating that the association is determined to exert all its influence to get stricter inspection laws passed by legislatures of the Middle and Eastern States.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—The signal service observer at Point Reyes, about twelve miles up the Coast, reported that the German tramp steamer Romulus, which left here today for Departure Bay, is anchored a mile off shore in distress. Immediately on receipt of the news here a number of tug boats went to her assistance.

The steamer Point Loma got a line to the Romulus and hauled her out of danger. It is not yet known what is the matter with the Romulus.

Thoroughbred Sold.

New York, June 2.—Forty-seven thoroughbreds were sold at Tattersall's tonight, the sales aggregating $52,100. The highest price paid was $6000 for a bay filly by Longfellow—Semper Idem.

THE CANAL CONVENTION.

The Great Gathering at St. Louis Gets to Work.

Claims of the Enterprise Presented by Hon. M. M. Estee.

Hon. Warner Miller also Delivers a Forceful Address.

Completion of the Canal and its Control by the Government the Object for Which the Convention Will Labor.

St. Louis, June 2.—[By the Associated Press.] The convention of representatives of the country's commercial interests, the delegates from twenty-five or more States and various commercial bodies of the Union, gathered this morning in the entertainment hall of the Exposition building to open the session of the Nicaragua Canal Convention, inaugurated by the business men of California. The Stars and Stripes were used to relieve the severity of the hall's ornamentation, as became so patriotic a body. The assembly met at 10:30 o'clock and before it was called to order it was addressed by Marcus Bernheim, chairman of the local committee on Arrangements, who, in well-chosen words, welcomed the delegates and introduced Rev. H. A. Steinson, who invoked the divine blessing upon the gathering and work.

Without wasting time the convention chose ex-Gov. E. O. Stanford of St. Louis as temporary presiding officer. On taking the chair ex-Gov. Stanford read a declaration of the convention, not only on himself, but by his election, upon St. Louis by the selection of this city as the point of assembly. He referred to the advantages gained by saving time and distance if the canal be completed, and closed with a repetition of his thanks.

D. H. McAdam and J. C. Broadwell were elected secretaries. The usual committees, one for each State, on Credentials, Permanent Organization and Resolutions were ordered appointed. Then Gov. D. B. Francis of Missouri welcomed the delegates to the State and to the scene of the first national gathering in the interest of a shorter route to the ports of the Pacific.

Referring to the objects of the gathering, he declared that the feasibility of the canal's construction having been determined the only question remaining after construction was control. That issue was settled by the Monroe doctrine, which was adopted twenty years ago. As to the Government guarantee, he declared that the commercial interests of the Union should be the actuating influence. The old cry that every application for Government endorsement was acted upon by the Government, scarcely be compatible with the intelligence and patriotism of a representative body such as the one now assembled.

HON. M. M. ESTEE'S ADDRESS.

At the close of Gov. Francis's address Hon. M. M. Estee of California was called upon and explained the purposes of the gathering, which he declared had its inception in his State. He said:

Gentlemen: On the 30th of March, 1892, the State of California was unanimously declared in favor of the Nicaragua Canal Convention, and was unanimously declared in favor of the Nicaragua Canal Convention, and was unanimously declared in favor of the Nicaragua Canal Convention.

At the close of the convention, the delegates from twenty-five or more States and various commercial bodies of the Union, gathered this morning in the entertainment hall of the Exposition building to open the session of the Nicaragua Canal Convention, inaugurated by the business men of California.

The Stars and Stripes were used to relieve the severity of the hall's ornamentation, as became so patriotic a body. The assembly met at 10:30 o'clock and before it was called to order it was addressed by Marcus Bernheim, chairman of the local committee on Arrangements, who, in well-chosen words, welcomed the delegates and introduced Rev. H. A. Steinson, who invoked the divine blessing upon the gathering and work.

Without wasting time the convention chose ex-Gov. E. O. Stanford of St. Louis as temporary presiding officer. On taking the chair ex-Gov. Stanford read a declaration of the convention, not only on himself, but by his election, upon St. Louis by the selection of this city as the point of assembly. He referred to the advantages gained by saving time and distance if the canal be completed, and closed with a repetition of his thanks.

D. H. McAdam and J. C. Broadwell were elected secretaries. The usual committees, one for each State, on Credentials, Permanent Organization and Resolutions were ordered appointed. Then Gov. D. B. Francis of Missouri welcomed the delegates to the State and to the scene of the first national gathering in the interest of a shorter route to the ports of the Pacific.

Referring to the objects of the gathering, he declared that the feasibility of the canal's construction having been determined the only question remaining after construction was control. That issue was settled by the Monroe doctrine, which was adopted twenty years ago. As to the Government guarantee, he declared that the commercial

Facts About the Sacramento Chinese Fight.

Chief Glass in Receipt of a Letter Giving Information.

Reze, the Burglar, Held to Answer in $10,000 Bail.

No Steps Yet Taken Toward the Punishment of the Men guilty of Ruling Young Girls—Another Burglar Located.

A few days ago a desperate fight took place between Chinese highlanders in Sacramento, and seven Chinamen who took part in the shooting were arrested and are now confined in the County Jail at that place.

The police were on the grounds before the shooting was over. They found two dead Chinamen, but a search through the dens of Chinatown failed to show that out of the several hundred shots fired any one else had been hit. The officers of Sacramento will average up with any force in the State except the department of Los Angeles, which leads all west of the Missouri River, and yet they were fooled by the almond-eyed heathens.

Chief Glass of this city learned in a most singular manner that there were three Chinamen killed outright in the fight and sixteen seriously wounded. Not only that, but a white boy who happened to be in the vicinity when the shooting occurred was seriously wounded.

The Chinamen got ahead of the officers by concealing the body of one of the dead men, and before the police got down to business the Chinamen were concealed so effectively that they have not yet been located.

Chief Glass was made acquainted with these facts yesterday morning by Charles Quong of this city who received an official letter from a member of his company in Sacramento who was in the fight. The letter to Quong gives full particulars of the fight and shows how easy it is for Chinamen to fool white officers when they wish to do so.

The oldest Chinatown officers never become acquainted with the numerous dens and holes in the ground that infest every Chinatown on the Coast. Murders are committed almost weekly and the murderers are brought to justice for the reason that the officers cannot find the murderers or even the bodies of their victims.

In the Sacramento fight a dozen officers were on the ground some seconds before the last shot was fired and yet they were not quick enough to see the dead and wounded being spirited away by the two factions. There is no telling how many of the wounded heathens have died since then, but it is safe to say that the authorities will never know anything of what has become of the bodies. Had the officers been a couple of minutes later they would not have found the two bodies and it would have been given out that no one was killed on account of the poor marksmanship of the highlanders.

Chinamen are not such poor shots as they are believed to be, and whenever a shooting scrape takes place it is safe to put it down that some poor heathen has passed over the dark river.

NOT YET ARRESTED.

McDermott and Green Have Not Yet Been Taken Into Custody.

The frightful depravity developed in the examination of the young girl Edna Percival, before Judge Smith Wednesday, has caused a great deal of comment and public indignation is running high against the hardened wretches who coolly confessed in open court to their criminal intimacy with children who are not yet out of short dresses. Contrary to expectations, no complaints were issued yesterday for the arrest of either McDermott or Green, and no steps have been taken by the parents of either the girl Maud Stone or May McCrocy. Humane Officer Wright is still busy getting evidence together, but whether he will be able to do anything without the assistance and cooperation of the parents of the children, who have been wronged, remains to be seen. The officers say that they will leave no effort untaken to bring the men to justice, and it is certain that if they can ever be got before a jury their conviction will follow.

In regard to the disreputable resort kept by old "Mother Brown," there is some doubt among the officers as to the best means of bringing it up. The place is situated on the outskirts of the city, on the East Side, and is one of the worst of its kind that was ever allowed to continue in any community. The woman who conducts the business is a native of the city, and as it is outside the city limits, and as it is outside the jurisdiction of the police, it will have to be attended to by the Sheriff's office. It is very much worse than the old Pig Cottage, formerly conducted by the McCormacks, out on Jefferson street, and which caused so much scandal for a number of months. Sheriff Aguirre, however, broke this resort up, and "Mother Brown's" sink of iniquity can also be compelled to close its doors if the Board of Supervisors and Sheriff Gibson will only set about it.

It is just possible that there may be something done today looking to the punishment of Green and McDermott.

LOUIS REZE.

The Young Burglar Appears in the Police Court.

Yesterday afternoon Louis Reze, the boy burglar who amused himself by entering ten houses in as many nights, just before he was captured by Detectives Benson, Bosqui and Auble last Monday, was before Police Justice Owens yesterday. The candle burglar entered a plea of not guilty in two cases and will be examined in the first court and the second next Tuesday. The Court fixed the bail at $5000 in each case and as the fellow could not give it, he was sent to the murderer's cell for safe keeping.

The detectives have learned to a certainty during the past few days that Reze had a pal who assisted him in each burglary. This pal is supposed to be his brother, and as he has a mistress in this city it is almost a foregone conclusion that he will be captured before the courts are through with his brother, who can be tried on ten separate and distinct cases, if necessary.

The brothers have another brother in the East, who has been in correspondence with them since they came to Los Angeles and some of his letters are now in the hands of the police. They are the most singular pair of burglars that ever operated in this city and their new system of going through houses put the detectives off the track and that is the reason why Reze was not captured sooner.

As long as a burglar sticks to the old methods in this city he has a mighty poor show, and is almost sure to fall into the hands of the police after the first or second job. This is the reason why professional thieves steer so clear of Los Angeles.

JESSIE DUNBAR.

Fined Ten Dollars for Discourtesy—the Optim Habit in a Saloon.

A few days ago Jessie Dunbar, a man entered into the discussion of the optim habit in an Alameda street saloon, and the wrangle became so animated that a passing guardian of the peace entered the place club in hand.

Both of the parties were promptly arrested and sent to the central station where a complaint of disturbing the peace was filed against them. The matter came up for trial in Justice Owens's court yesterday, and the evidence went to show that the woman made enough noise to put a meeting of Eighth Ward politicians to shame, and the Court coolly fined her $10.

While Mason was quite handy with his tongue, he kept his voice under control, and the case against him was dismissed and he was allowed to go free. The officers are determined to make orderly places of the low saloons in the tough quarters of the city, even if they have to arrest every person who talks above a loud stage whisper. It is disgraceful the way things are carried on in the second and third-rate saloons of this city.

LEPT FORTY DOLLARS BEHIND.

D. A. Graham is Wanted in This City for Several Crimes.

A month ago a well-known man about town, who lived in that mysterious manner so common to hundreds who have no visible means of support, was arrested on a charge of battery. The case was quite serious, and bail was fixed at $40 cash, which was put up by the fellow's friends.

The case was postponed from time to time, and did not come up for trial until yesterday, when it was called in Justice Austin's department of the Police Court. Several witnesses were examined for the people notwithstanding the fact that Graham did not put in an appearance.

He was found guilty and sentence was postponed until tomorrow, as the police are apt to catch him by that time. There is a rather curious charge against Graham with a felony. A week ago he branched out in the bogus check business and succeeded in gulling a number of innocent persons before he was detected. It is supposed that he raised sufficient money in this way to skip the country.

THE CONGREGATIONALISTS.

Closing Sessions of the Southern California Association.

Strong Resolution Adopted Against the Re-marrying of Divorced People—Papers and Addresses—Young People's Meeting.

The sixth annual meeting of the General Congregational Association of Southern California, which has been in session at the East Los Angeles Church for the past three days, closed last evening. The session has been characterized throughout by the utmost unanimity on the part of the delegates and other members of the association. Much credit is likewise due the ladies of the East Side Church, who not only entertained the visitors at their homes, but also served excellent dinners and suppers to all the guests, more than 750 meals being furnished and a large amount of expense being thereby saved the delegates.

At the beginning of the session yesterday morning it was noted that Rev. J. W. Campbell, pastor of the First Methodist Church of this city was present as an interested spectator, and he was invited to sit as an honorary member.

The subject of "Our Sunday-school Work" was then taken up and ably discussed by Rev. J. H. Collins, pastor of the Third Church of Los Angeles, and also by Rev. H. P. Case, superintendent of Sunday-school work for Southern California, in connection with his regular annual report.

The usual morning prayer service was conducted by Rev. H. P. Case, who presented a most pleasing feature of the session.

Rev. J. S. Jewell of South Riverside and Rev. H. P. Higley of Sierra Madre followed with papers, the first entitled "The Christian Way of Acquiring Wealth" and the other upon "The Christian Way of Using Wealth." Both were well written and unusually full of new and instructive points and good and helpful suggestions.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The afternoon session at 2 o'clock was opened with a report from Mrs. Harwood, president of the Women's Board of Missions of the Pacific, showing a vast amount of work to have been done. Rev. W. E. de Pos, a missionary about to return to his field in South Africa, also spoke affectionately of the assistance rendered by these mission boards to the workers who like himself, are busy spreading the gospel among the various heathen tribes.

Next came a memorial service in which were given a number of five-minute sketches of the lives and labors of the five Southern California workers of the Ministerial Association who have been removed from their field of labor by the grim messenger death during the past year.

Brief addresses were made by Rev. Messrs. O. D. Crawford, F. M. Price and S. Bristol, who discussed respectively the need, the attainment, and the possession of spiritual power.

Rev. J. W. Campbell was called for and spoke with much feeling and thanks for the great degree of harmony now existing between the different denominations, and referring in a touching manner to the change wrought in church relations in this city during the late meetings conducted by Mr. Kelly. At the close of his remarks the audience joined in singing "Blest be the tie that binds," after which some informal discussion was indulged in and a number of resolutions were adopted.

Among others was a resolution requesting the State Legislature to pass some law making one day in seven a legal resting day; also the following in regard to the matter of divorces:

Whereas, we recognize the frequency of divorce and remarriage of divorced persons, while the persons from whom they were divorced are still living, to be one of the great dangers now menacing society; therefore, be it

Resolved, that it is the sense of this association that ministers of this denomination do not perform the marriage ceremony in which either of the contracting parties have been divorced while the persons from whom they were divorced are still living, except when the divorce is granted on the Christian grounds as laid down in Matthew's gospel.

A resolution was also adopted thanking the church and community of East Los Angeles for its generous hospitality and kind entertainment, and the railroad companies and public press for courtesies extended.

EVENING SERVICE.

It had been announced that the evening would be devoted to the young people, and there was present at 7:30 o'clock a large representation from the various endorsement societies also from the local companies of the Boys' Brigade, under the command of their respective captains. A number of interesting one-minute reports from societies were received, after which the aims and workings of the Boys' Brigade were explained by Capt. Wilbur of the First Church company.

The various phases of Christian endeavor work were then taken up and handled briefly by Rev. F. W. Merriam, Rev. F. J. Culver and others. Rev. H. D. Ward also made some pleasant remarks and told a few stories apropos of some good advice to the boys and young people generally, after which a hymn was sung and the association adjourned with the benediction.

PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Meeting of the Directors—Short of Funds—The Librarian's Report.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Public Library was held yesterday at 4 p. m., there being present Directors Davies, Howard, Severance and Smith. Bills to the amount of $1198.91 were presented and approved, but owing to lack of funds, payment was postponed until the further action of the Council.

The librarian, Miss Kelson, reported that the circulation of books for the month of May was 28,562. The reference department was used by 791 students and 791 books had been distributed through the schools. Three hundred and thirteen new members were added during the month, making a total of 8096 cards in use. There were donated 418 books.

It was resolved to hold an examination for the admission of pupils to the library training class during the second week in June only such applications as are made upon the official blanks furnished at the library for that purpose to be considered.

A special report was made by the librarian upon the lack of books in the circulating department. The extraordinary demand upon such books necessitated rebinding in a very short time and a large number being condemned as unfit for use. These causes led to the withdrawal of quantities of books each month with no source of replenishment, and, as a consequence a constantly-increasing impatience and series of complaints on the part of the public, which could only be remedied by the prompt purchase of some thousands of volumes.

A discussion followed as to the power of the board to contract indebtedness in excess of its appropriation, the matter being finally referred to the special committee for presentation to the City Council.

Points About the New Throop University Building.

It Will Be an Imposing Structure and Well Equipped.

The Bankers Will Take a Turn at Baseball Tomorrow.

The School Election Draws an Appreciable Little, If We Cannot Save Much—Personal Notes and Brevities.

Plans have been accepted for the building that is to be erected on the corner of Third and University streets, near the intersection of the latter with the street leading to the University of California. The building is to be located on the southeast corner of Fair Oaks avenue and Chestnut street, where is to be located the industrial department of this institution. Mr. T. W. Parkes is the architect and the building when completed will be a model of convenience and architectural beauty.

The structure will be an imposing one, two stories high, with a frontage of 140 feet on Fair Oaks avenue and a depth of 80 feet on Chestnut street. The building will be constructed of brick, giving it a most substantial appearance. Opening of the main entrance will be a small office. The south end of the ground floor fronting on Fair Oaks will be occupied by the physical laboratory, 18x43; the physical lecture room, 17x43; a smaller apartment to be used as a physical workshop. On the southeast corner will be located the dressmaking room, 18x48. The north wing will be devoted to the cultivation of more noisy occupations. The machine shop, a large room nearly forty feet square, will occupy the northeast corner and in the rear of this will be the forging room, 30x46. Between these two apartments will be a large coat and washroom, and a smaller room to be used for the purpose of a storeroom. These rooms will be almost entirely shut off from the southern section of the building.

On the second floor the north wing will be occupied by the wood shop, the molding shop and the pattern shop. The wood shop will take up the northwest corner. Its dimensions will be 27x40. The other two rooms will be about half this size. Between the woodshop and the chemical laboratory and the pattern shop, there will be a small apartment devoted to the professors' use. South of the laboratory, the drawing room, and the cooking room, 18x40, will be located. A large skylight will furnish an abundance of light for the former. The architectural effect of the building is heightened materially by a tower, which will serve a purpose useful as well as ornamental. It will be located in a library consisting of a staircase, a library, and a study. The building will be completely supplied with lavatories, lighting and heating apparatus, etc. Work will be begun inside of a few weeks and the building will be finished and completely equipped in time for the fall term. Several highly competent instructors have been engaged from the East.

BANKERS WILL PLAY BASEBALL.

A baseball club, composed of nine handsome young men connected with the banks of Pasadena and representing the creme de la creme of society, will journey to Los Angeles tomorrow afternoon to engage in a match game with the team of that city. This is the make-up of the team, the names being printed in the order they will appear at the bat: W. B. Benson, first base; F. Decker, third base; H. Burke, short stop; H. Newby, pitcher; W. C. Fletcher, first base; A. S. Bates, center field; R. B. Clark, left field; T. D. Allen, left field; R. C. Rogers, right field.

The game will be played at the Los Angeles Athletic Club grounds and will begin at 3 o'clock. The local team will be accompanied to the scene of action by a distinguished party of bank directors and officials and prominent citizens. The game is a great social occasion, and it is predicted that the grand stand will be well-filled with the elite of the city. The Pasadena players may be counted on to do themselves proud, unless, perchance, their susceptible natures get the better of them in the spell of the bewitching glances of the fair onlookers.

WHAT IT DOESN'T MEAN.

Again the statement goes forth that the election of Mr. Boynton means, among other evils, a "cut in salaries." Most people know that it doesn't mean anything of the kind. An enthusiastic friend of Mr. Boynton, and an ardent supporter of the platform on which he stands, says that he would always oppose any reduction in the teachers' salaries. "We want the best men and women to teach our children. Better have a dozen applications of first-class people for a vacant position than a command high salary that will be compelled to accept to obtain any one who may be willing to accept the place at a lower price."

THE VALUE OF A TRUSTEE'S OPINION.

In the discussion of the school trustees question there seems to be a disposition on the part of some good people to bring into the matter of the present board believes may be done in the matter of management. Only yesterday one esteemed local contented a column of space explaining of "Trustee Woods' belief in this interesting subject." The subject of the issue in this election should not be based upon what any member of the board may have said.

If we do not save a few thousand dollars in the running of the schools, let a stab be made at saving a few hundred. The taxpayers will be thankful for small favors.

But business men would sneer at this, saying that it would mean a month's pay for the school board. "The saving would be small," but in the end it might become "Oh, my!"

POMONA.

The Result of the Orange Crop Better than Was Anticipated.

An Exciting Price-Fight Wednesday Evening—The Local Champion the Winner—Bids for School Building.

At last the local shippers are through shipping oranges, and while the shipments have not been as large as in previous years, the oranges have been in quality, especially the last shipments, unusually fine. The number of carloads shipped this season has amounted to but little over half of the number of last season, but the shippers generally have realized good prices. While the report is not as good as it might be, and while we would like to report an improvement over last year, still every body knows that the amount and quality is about the best that can be expected. The average just after the cold snap came upon us. Then we have fine prospects for a most flattering crop next season, and let us hope it will be as far above the average as the last crop was.

EXCITING PRICE-FIGHT.

There was an exciting price-fight at the Fashion Stables in this city on Wednesday night, between our local champion, "Mike, the Kid," and "Black Diamond." The fight was a close one, and the local champion won by the receipts (about $20), and was won by the local champion in sixteen rounds of two minutes each. ## The Election of Officers of the N. S. G. W.

The Meeting Followed by an Elaborate Banquet and Social.

Organization of a Chamber of Commerce at Riverside.

The Institution Will Start in its Labors at Once—A Good Move by the Police—News Notes and Personal Mention.

SAN BERNARDINO.

On Wednesday evening Messrs. Cleghorn and Kier were indicted into the second degree at the police meeting, N. S. G. W. It was also decided, and the Entertainment Committee so instructed, to assist in reviving the order of Native Daughters in this city. The election of officers resulted in the following:

President, I. H. Curtis, pastor; Albert Burman, first vice-president; Thomas Starke, second vice-president; A. H. Starke, third vice-president; W. D. Wagner, recording secretary; W. D. Magee, financial secretary; W. D. Magee, treasurer; E. E. Katz, trustee; Martin O'Mara, historian.

A table was then spread for the local and visiting parlor, and for a half hour or so the room was filled with the sound of the violin. Further destruction of estates was cut short by a few apt remarks by I. H. Curtis, master of ceremonies for this particular event, who called J. W. F. D. of Redlands to respond to the toast "California," and for half an hour their spirits were checked only by the closing word, "W. D. Magee." The growth of "Our Grand Parlor," "Redlands Parlor," was then recounted by Mr. A. H. Starke, and the "checked career" of Arrowhead Parlor was recounted by H. L. Nash.

The flag of our country was unfurled in glorious language by W. D. Magee. Mr. Taylor has a pretty good comprehension of "Our State," and told the boys about it. The sick brother, Dwight W. Fox, was toasted standing by several of the admiring and eloquent brothers, and a number of impromptu speeches were spoken. The boys were sung by the "wee mae" hours; the parlor departed from the banquet hall.

A good move. About 4 o'clock the police force proceeded in capturing four of the "critters" who are doing so much in their way to drag this city into deeper moral degradation. They gave their names as Ed Casey, John Smith, and John Jones. When they were hauled from the houses of ill-repute, where it is claimed they subsist upon the earnings of the unfortunate inmates. It is thought that these fellows appeared before Justice Knox and their cases set for this morning. Bail to the sum of $100 each was fixed, and the boys were liberated in the interim until the trial.

The police force is to be commended for its move in this direction, and the good work should go on until the city deserves a better name than it now bears in Southern California.

The duties of the officers and other matters are such as usually devolve upon such officers. The full management of the affairs of the chamber, and the trust of the burden fall upon the Executive Committee. After the sale Ambrose gave Saunders a check in payment of the purchase money and received his certificate of purchase. He then stopped at the wharf and the constable has as yet been unable to collect the same. Now Meherin, the assignee of the owners of the wharf, sues the constable for the money he ought to have on hand and has not.

HEIGHT KITES WILL REACH.

If More Than One Is Used They Will Go Very High in the Sky.

The actual height of the kites above the earth is difficult to measure, because an obstacle floating alone in the air looks farther away than it really is. When a kite is flying at a height of 1800 feet, it has reached about as high as any kite is possible to reach. The assistance of other kites. Such a kite will seem to have reached an altitude of half a mile; yet a careful measurement of the string and its steepness will show that the kite is not over one-third of a mile above the ground. Ordinarily the kite will go no higher, even if more string is let out, because the wind presses against the great length of the string with increasing force as the kite recedes and rises.

If more than one kite be used, remarkable heights are attainable. The kites can be fastened along a single string, but this method requires quickness in attaching the right amount of line to each kite; otherwise so much time is lost that the kite will not reach the desired height. The day-light will wane before the experiment can be concluded. However, when one kite is used and the amount of tail for it is determined, it becomes possible, after long experience, to at once estimate the amount of tail necessary for each additional kite, according to its size.

Among the suits filed yesterday was one by Mrs. Adell Miles against Mrs. A. Robinson and Abbott Robinson for $5000 damages for alleged defamation of character. The complaint states that on or about the 15th day of May, 1892, at Santa Monica, Mrs. A. Robinson, in a discourse she had with Mrs. Miles, in the presence of and in the hearing of many persons, falsely and maliciously said that Mrs. Miles had immorally and wilfully whipped and beat her little child with a buggy whip, parking and scattering her in a horrible manner, thereby accusing the plaintiff of cruelty to children.

Charles S. Gilbert has brought suit against the Blumington Lumber Company for $600.33, for services rendered. The petition went through, the company got the contract, the work has been done, and now Mr. Gilbert wants his money, which apparently the lumber people have declined to pay.

RAILROAD AFFAIRS.

More About the Southern Pacific Wharf Matter.

The Location of the Santa Monica Improvement Not Settled.

The New California Midland Road Headed This Way.

A Catchism for Southern Pacific Employees—Fruit Stealers Must Look Out—General and Local Notes.

An air of mystery and uncertainty surrounds the maneuvering of the Southern Pacific in this section. Though it is pretty well known what the company is doing, it is more difficult to determine what it is going to do in the near future. The Santa Monica matter is not at all settled yet and the location of the contemplated wharf and harbor is one of the uncertainties. The fact that the site at the mouth of Santa Monica Cañon had been abandoned, on account of the boulders on the ocean bed, has been published in two times, together with the statement that the company would move further up the coast. It is learned that Harry LaMott, right-of-way agent for the Southern Pacific, has bonded for ten months a tract of eighteen acres belonging to Juan Marques, about two miles north of the old cañon. Before the ten months' limit has expired, the engineers will have investigated the condition of the ocean bottom and determined for a certainty whether it is practicable to make the great improvement at that point, which is at the mouth of the Santa Inez Cañon and fully as well situated as the abandoned site. It is probable, too, that the plans will be so far changed that a mole will be built in connection with a breakwater. No one seems to feel certain that a government appropriation will be secured for the harbor, but some inside influence will be brought to bear to obtain some indirect Federal help. A mole, for instance, could be constructed by making a designated spot a dumping place for vast quantities of stones, which it may be necessary to remove from some channel or other at the expense of the Government. The Southern Pacific Company is undoubtedly prepared to expend a large amount of money, and a portion of the expenditure may be utilized as a nest-egg to good advantage. The harbor of Santa Monica is evidently a sure thing, but how soon it will be an accomplished fact is not so apparent.

THE NEW CALIFORNIA MIDLAND.
The Fresno Republican of Wednesday says: "For several days past a corps of surveyors have been at camp near the Kroeber schoolhouse, north of this city. Some of the party said that they were connected with the California Midland Railway Company, and that they were surveying the line from Stockton to Bakersfield. Yesterday morning they passed through the city going southerly and laid their stakes on M street. This has occasioned a good deal of surprise. The surveyors, on being asked as to the matter, said that they did not know what company they were working for and refused to give any information. The right of way through M street has not been asked by any railway company, and it is not likely that such a request would be granted as a steam railway through that thoroughfare would destroy that part of the city for residence purposes."

SCRAP HEAP.
T. H. Dusan, of the Burlington, went up to Sacramento last night to meet his wife on her return from a visit in the East.

H. E. Huntington has returned from the East and assumed the duties of his position at Fourth and Townsend streets.

The Union Pacific office on Spring street yesterday displayed a placard announcing the round trip rate to Chicago for the convention to be $70.

The Southern Pacific's new 65-ton compound passenger engines, two of which left New Orleans Tuesday, will be used on the Salt Lake division between Carlin and Ogden.

Superintendent J. A. Muir, of the Southern Pacific, has issued a circular cautioning agents and trainmen to look out for fellows who are inclined to steal fruit in large or small quantities from cars in transit. Stealing from loaded fruit cars must be discouraged.

A catchism comprising 181 questions about the new standard rules is being prepared in the Southern Pacific superintendent's office. Every employee of the road on this division will have these questions put to him and he must answer them or retire from the service.

The new salt water swimming tanks (all under glass) at the Hotel del Coronado are without doubt the most elegantly appointed in California. Separate tanks with hot and cold water constantly flowing through them, make a visit during the heated term delightfully invigorating and healthful.

TYNDALL-OSTEN.

Marriage of the Mind-render to an English Lady at San Francisco.

Tyndall, the mind-render who appeared in this city several months ago, has taken unto himself a wife. He was married in San Francisco at noon Wednesday, and will probably make that city his home. Following details are from the Post of Wednesday afternoon: There was a very quiet little wedding at noon today in Judge Trout's chambers, by which Miss Frances Osten became the wife of A. J. McVey Tyndall, the mind-render. George McComb, clerk of the court, and W. H. Blanchard of the marriage license department were the witnesses.

Miss Osten, or rather Mrs. Tyndall, is a very attractive lady, whose accent would lead to the belief that she is of English birth. She was clad in a neat-fitting dress of navy blue, with long sweeping train. Both parties seemed to be somewhat nervous during the ceremony, which Judge Trout made as brief as possible.

When the Judge said, "I now pronounce you man and wife," the bride raised her veil and received full upon her rosy lips the chaste salute of her husband. When Tyndall placed the wedding ring upon his wife's finger he took the precaution to retrieve the solitaire she had been wearing as an engagement ring.

The bride made a gesture as if to get the solitaire back, but Tyndall dropped it into his vest pocket with the remark, "It will be safer here, my dear."

At the Orpheum the other evening Tyndall made an address to the audience, in which he said that as he was on his way home the preceding night he had overheard two ladies talking about him. One of them had remarked that she would not want to marry a man like Tyndall, who could read all her thoughts. Tyndall said that he did not want to wrong any woman like that and in fact did not want to marry any California woman, because all women here are so unlike the English women.

People's Store!

June 3, 1892.

You can earn more money reading our advertisements daily than you can doing aught else in the same space of time. This space costs money. It is not fooled away. We get right down to work and tell you the best items that we have on sale and wherein you are benefited if you have needs in our line.

Constantly Bettering Our Merchandise and Lowering the Prices!

For instance—Our Dress Goods Department is a revelation to the trade. We have in our windows a line of printed China Silks at 50c a yard. They are beautiful in design and as to quality they are as good as ordinarily shown at 85c, and what is more we warrant their wear. 40-inch all-wool Bedford Cords in all shades in the quality that is sold at $1.00, we have on at 50c. These goods cost $50 to import. They are sublime in quality and the best value in choice dress goods that ever left our stores. 40 inches wide and all-wool Crinkle Weave Dress Goods in handsome effects, the $1.00 quality, at 50c per yard. 46-inch, All-wool silk finished Henriettes and Surah Cloths, 44-inch Zigzag Storm Serges, all wool, and 40-inch Chevron or Arrowhead weave All-wool Dress Goods at 75c a yard—goods that are worth the best $1.00 that Uncle Sam ever coined. Some poems in Challes—French goods—in the handsomest and newest printings, just received by express, at 60c a yard, that it were a pity to sell under 85c. You will find the nicest, the newest, and for quality the cheapest Dress Goods in Los Angeles.

Mr. D. A. Hamburger leaves for New York about the 15th of June to resume his position as Eastern buyer. Just one year ago he came to Los Angeles for the purpose of raising the standard of the People's Store merchandise, and learning by personal contact with the public just what their wants were. During the autumn and fall you will be more than surprised with the beauty of our merchandise and its comparison in price for value to what you have heretofore paid.

Our Crockery Dept.

We bought 25 crates of assorted China and Crockery wares to give away and popularize this department. For its size it is the neatest and prettiest in California, and as for value, compare it with others. Crockery men tell us we'll get stuck that we don't consider breakage and that will more than eat up the profits.
